

Reviving a yearly tradition, Formentera's Language Assessment Service has put out a new crop of calendars for the year ahead.

The 2020 calendar spotlights eleven islands on the Formentera coastline; a summit between Punta de l'Anguila and Racó de s'Alga; and Es Freus, and includes the image and etymological origin of names like S'Espardell, S'Espardelló, S'Espalmador, Castaví, En Forn, Ses Parreres and Es Fonoll Marí, to name a few.

Past editions of the calendars have focused on varieties of fig, raisin, fishing tackle and Formentera's history as told by its archaeological sites.

The 2020 calendar aims to showcase local toponymy—namely, that of Formentera's coastal waters. Photos were taken by Alfredo Montero, and the two thousand copies that have been printed are available at Consell de Formentera offices like the Citizen's Information Office (OAC), Antoni Blanc sport centre, the culture office in Sant Ferran and the Casa del Poble in La Mola.
